The Reformation

Unit Outline

About this Unit Outline

This unit outline contains information essential to finding your way around the unit The Reformation. It provides a structure for your learning, giving details of lecture topics, assessment requirements, and key resources.

SEMESTER 2 2021

Important notice

While every care has been taken to ensure accuracy in the information given below, it is the personal responsibility of each student to check the current ACT Handbook, copies of which may be found in the Library or online at www.actheology.edu.au

It is very important that students plan their time carefully to ensure that reading and especially assignments receive adequate attention and so as to prevent a bottleneck of work at the end of the semester.

It is very important that all quoted material in assignments be properly footnoted and acknowledged. The attention of students is drawn to the ACT's Academic Misconduct Policy, as well as ACT Late Penalties Policy and Extensions Policy, all of which are available on the ACT website. Failure to comply with the standards required will incur penalties as outlined in the relevant ACT Policies.

The attention of students is also drawn to the section in the current ACT Handbook, headed "Guidelines for Essays in Coursework Units" (see also the QTC Student Handbook). All essays and assignments should comply with these standards.

Students should be aware that the delivery of this unit and results awarded are moderated by the ACT. See the ACT "Moderation Policy" and "Moderation Procedure" at www.actheology.edu.au/documents/ for full details.

Information about this unit

Unit description

The unit The Reformation involves an in-depth study of the political, economic and social setting of the Protestant Reformation of the Sixteenth Century with particular reference to developments in Germany, Switzerland, England & Scotland. It also devotes significant attention to the "Catholic Reformation" (also known as the "Counter-Reformation") of the same period. Some of the major personalities of the Reformation such as Luther, Zwingli, Calvin and Cranmer are studied in detail, together with how their lives and writings impacted on history. Brief consideration is also given to the Radical Reformation and the Anabaptists, and the lessons to be learned from those movements.

ACT Census Date

How this Unit Contributes to the Course

Study of the Reformation period is of central importance for Protestants from Reformed and other churches today. Firstly, it helps us to understand why we are in fact Protestant rather than Roman Catholic, and what it means to be part of a Protestant church and denomination.

Secondly, it sharpens our thinking on certain key doctrines and important church practices and ministry issues that were thought and fought over in the Sixteenth Century. Thirdly, the historical context of the Reformation is that very period when the modern age was dawning – reflecting upon how Christians of the time responded to new intellectual, cultural, economic and political phenomena which have shaped Western Civilization ever since can therefore be of help to us as we seek to live faithfully in our own time.

It is intended that students be able to grasp how church history and historical theology can be a useful tool in helping us to understand how God's people can live and think as Christians in the midst of a changing world – a world where social, economic and cultural factors interact constantly with our attempts at biblical study, theological formulation and faithful ministry. By examining how selected well-known Christian individuals, churches and movements sought to live as faithful Christians at a time of rapid change and serious challenges for the gospel, it is intended that we can gain greater insight into how we might do the same today. The study of the events and personalities of this period has encouraged many modern Christians.

How this unit is organised & what we expect of you

This unit is taught in weekly classroom mode, with three periods per week for the 13 teaching weeks of the QTC Semester.

This unit will involve three hours per week of contact time, including lectures, class discussion time, and examination of primary sources from the period of the Reformation.

This unit is worth 12 credit points towards your course. A 12-credit point unit is considered to require an average total time commitment of around ten hours per week across all of the teaching and assessment weeks of the Semester. Please contact the lecturer as a matter of urgency if you find that you are regularly needing to spend significantly more time than this on your studies for this unit.

Students are expected to attend all lectures, complete any set pre-reading and complete any assessment tasks by the relevant due date. Please do be in touch as soon as you can if you anticipate having any difficulties with your assessments or with meeting the due date, and if you require an extension for one of your assessments please contact the QTC Registrar as early as possible.

If you experience difficulty submitting due to internet issues close to 11.55pm, please email registrar@qtc.edu.au explaining the issue. Attach a copy of your assessment and a screen shot of the folder in which your document is saved to show that you have not made changes after the due time.

In order to pass the unit, you must submit all assessment pieces and attain a mark of at least 50% for the unit as a whole.

Unless an extension has been applied for and granted in accordance with the Policy found in the QTC Handbook, where a student submits an assessment past its due date, in accordance with the ACT Late Penalties Policy, the assessment marks will be reduced at the rate of 3% of the total possible marks for the assessment item per calendar day, up to 14 days late, after which point the mark awarded shall be zero. Where the assessment is a Take-Home Exam, the assessment marks will be reduced at the rate of 6% of the total possible marks for the assessment item per calendar day, up to 7 days late, after which point the mark awarded shall be zero.

Your submitted assessment items must also be within 10% of the required word limit, and failure to meet this requirement shall result in a penalty of 10% of the total possible mark being deducted. See the QTC Handbook for full details on what is included within your total word count. Please also note that footnotes in their entirety should not exceed 25% of the prescribed essay length. A 10% penalty of the final grade applies if footnotes are more than 25% of the prescribed essay length. QTC seeks to prepare you for ministry, and in ministry delivering presentations on time and within an acceptable length are essential skills.

Guide to Assessments

What are we looking for?

General remarks

All students are expected to avail themselves of the guidelines for written assignments provided in the ACT Handbook (consult the table of contents) and in the QTC Student Handbook section 'Style Requirements for Written Assignments'.

All written work for this course should conform to the guidelines of the SBL Handbook of Style (with the exception of Australian spelling conventions).

Any Hebrew and Greek cited must be typed in a Unicode font; SBL BibLit is commended as one font covering Hebrew, Greek, and Roman Unicode ranges, but is not required. It is freely available from the SBL website: http://sbl-site.org/educational/BiblicalFonts_SBLBibLit.aspx

For full information on what is included in the total word count, see the QTC Handbook section headed Length of Assignments.

Do note carefully the number of words required for each assessment item, depending on whether you are enrolled for CH006-512 or CH006-712. For full information on what is included in the total word count, see the QTC Handbook section headed Length of Assignments.

In a Take-Home Exam, all direct quotations in your answers from books and articles should be footnoted, but there is no need to footnote the lectures. As is the case with a formal on-site exam, lecture notes and audio recordings of lectures should not ordinarily be footnoted or included in the bibliography of a Take-Home Exam.

Regarding the first assessment, on Calvin's Institutes, your focus should very much be on what Calvin writes, rather than on what scholars have written more recently about the Institutes. The main aim of the exercise is to encourage you to read and understand a major theologian of the Reformation period on an important theological topic. It is therefore not expected that you will consult a large number of resources beyond the Institutes, however, it would be wise to at least look at what some scholars have said about Calvin's Institutes to make sure that you are on the right track in your reading of him.

You will be marked primarily on how well you have understood and analysed Calvin's work. Strong engagement with a small number of other scholars may improve your mark a little (and should be included on all CH006-712 assignments, as well as CH006-512 assignments receiving a D or HD grade), but your primary focus should be very much on Calvin's Institutes itself.

Your essay should show that you have accurately understood Calvin's thinking on the matter referred to in the question, and that you have followed the logic of his argument. You should take care to make sure that within the part of Calvin's Institutes referred to by the question, you focus on what the question asks you to write about (in the same sections, Calvin also writes about some other things, and goes up some side tracks here and there: you need to avoid becoming preoccupied with these matters which don't relate directly to the question). The relevant selections from Calvin are not brief, and so you will need to work out which sections of his work that the question refers to are most relevant to your answer, and in your essay give the greatest amount of time to these.

You should show some awareness of the historical context in which Calvin is writing about the matters he addresses. However, this should not dominate your essay and you should not write heaps about this, but instead focus on what Calvin actually says and how he argues his point in relation to the question set.

Students should note that reading Calvin, especially for the first time, will take some time, especially the selections set for the CH006-712 assignment. It is therefore important to start your reading well ahead of the due date.

The Take-Home Exam is quite a different kind of exercise from the Calvin assignment. The take-home is about breadth of knowledge and understanding, rather than depth. You only have a small number of words with which to answer each question (even the longer-answer questions), and so you should not waste words going into highly specific details, or into any matters which are only indirectly related to the question.

Your main aim in each of your take-home exam answers should be to summarise briefly the major important points in relation to the question set, in a way that directly answers the question. The take-home exam is not seen primarily as a research exercise, and so you are not expected to do a large amount of reading for it. You should answer the questions set from what you have learnt in lectures, from the textbook (Lindberg), and from a small number of additional resources relevant to the set topics. If you do use resources beyond the lectures and the textbook well, this will contribute to your mark – but the main thing you will be marked on will be your ability to clearly and accurately give a short answer to the question. This should be an answer which argues a case rather than just lists off or describes relevant facts and details. All direct quotations in your answers from books and articles should be footnoted, but there is no need to footnote the lectures. As is the case with a formal on-site exam, lecture notes and audio recordings of lectures should not ordinarily be footnoted or included in the bibliography of a Take-Home Exam.

Do note carefully the number of words required for each assessment item, depending on whether you are enrolled for CH006-512 or CH006-712. For full information on what is included in the total word count, see the QTC Handbook section headed Length of Assignments.

Journal Articles

In most of the units you study at QTC, you will be asked to demonstrate your understanding of the subject matter by writing a research paper, essay, take-home exam or the like. Your lecturers and the Moderators of the Australian College of Theology will expect to see that you have consulted current academic research in the form of journal articles.

Q: So how do you find good journal articles?

A: Search the online Journal Databases

QTC makes available the following Journal Databases which will be useful for finding information for your assessments:

- ATLASerials Plus – available via EBSCO

ATLASerials Plus is the full text version of the ATLA Religion Database (ATLA). This database is a collection of major religion and theology journals selected by some of the major religion scholars in the United States. Coverage of this database dates back to 1949.

- Religion and Philosophy Collection

This database provides extensive full-text coverage of such topics as world religions, major denominations, biblical studies, religious history, epistemology, political philosophy, and philosophy of language, moral philosophy and the history of philosophy.

- JSTOR

JSTOR provides full-text access to journal articles as well as eBooks. It includes theological journal titles such as the Harvard Theological Review and other titles not found in ATLASerials Plus or the Religion and Philosophy Collection.

Most journal articles will be available as a PDF which you can read, print or save.

Access the databases via the QTC Library Webpage
