Principles of Systematic Theology

Online Learning Mode

Unit Outline

About this Unit Outline

This unit outline contains information essential to finding your way around the unit Principles of Systematic Theology – Online Learning Mode. It provides a structure for your learning, giving details of lecture topics, assessment requirements, and key resources.

SEMESTER 2 2021

Important notice

While every care has been taken to ensure accuracy in the information given below, it is the personal responsibility of each student to check the current ACT Handbook, copies of which may be found in the Library or online at www.acttheology.edu.au

It is very important that students plan their time carefully to ensure that reading and especially assignments receive adequate attention and so as to prevent a bottleneck of work at the end of the semester.

It is very important that all quoted material in assignments be properly footnoted and acknowledged. The attention of students is drawn to the ACT's Academic Misconduct Policy, as well as ACT Late Penalties Policy and Extensions Policy, all of which are available on the ACT website. Failure to comply with the standards required will incur penalties as outlined in the relevant ACT Policies.

The attention of students is also drawn to the section in the current ACT Handbook, headed "Guidelines for Essays in Coursework Units" (see also the QTC Student Handbook). All essays and assignments should comply with these standards.

Students should be aware that the delivery of this unit and results awarded are moderated by the ACT. See the ACT "Moderation Policy" and "Moderation Procedure" at www.acttheology.edu.au/documents/ for full details.

Information about this unit

Unit description

This preparatory half unit examines the importance of systematic theology, takes a bird's eye view of Christian doctrine and gives the learner skills on 'how to do theology'.

ACT Census Date

22 September 2021

Students must confirm their enrolment in this unit with the QTC Registrar by Wednesday 22 September 2021. This is the last day on which you may withdraw from the unit without academic penalty (a Fail), or without being liable for the tuition fees. To make a change in your enrolment you must contact the QTC Registrar in writing at: registrar@qtc.edu.au.

Learning Outcomes

TH025-606 Learning Outcomes

On completion of this unit, the student should have achieved the following learning outcomes:

Know and understand

1. Demonstrate foundational knowledge and understanding of the nature and method of Systematic Theology.

Be able to:

1. Define the role and method of Systematic Theology
2. Analyse the central topics of Systematic Theology and related biblical texts
3. Present organised evidence-based perspectives in systematic theology

Be in a position to:

1. Relating perspectives from 'Principles of Systematic Theology' to contemporary Christian life and ministry contexts

TH025-806 Learning Outcomes

On completion of this unit, the student should have achieved the following learning outcomes:

Know and understand

1. Demonstrate advanced knowledge and understanding of the nature and method of Systematic Theology

Be able to:

1. Examine the role and method of Systematic Theology

2. Critique perspectives on the central topics of Systematic Theology and related biblical texts
3. Present research aware evidence-based perspectives in systematic theology

Be in a position to:

1. Apply advanced perspectives from 'Principles of Systematic Theology' to contemporary Christian life and ministry practice as a reflective practitioner

How this Unit Contributes to the Course

Theology can be intimidating for beginners. Many students have been overwhelmed by the diversity of opinions and sheer volume of information to comprehend. Studying this unit in your first year of theological studies helps you establish a foundation of concepts and terminology on which to build a theological framework and should help to equip you for higher level theology units usually completed later in your course. For those doing a one-year course, this unit helps to establish the foundations for good theological thinking.

Pre-requisites and Co-requisites

This unit is typically taken by students in their first year of study for the following accredited courses of the Australian College of Theology: BTh/BMin/AssocDegTh/DipTh/DipMin and MDiv/MTS/GradDipDiv/GradCertDiv.

There are no pre-requisite or co-requisites for this unit.

How this unit is organised & what we expect of you

The unit is taught over 7 weeks, followed by an assessment period of about one week. It begins in the week of Monday 6 September, and concludes on Friday 5 November, when the assessment is due for submission.

Weekly unit material will be delivered in a mixture of formats, predominantly video recordings prepared specifically for online delivery, alongside written materials drawn from publications together with notes and other resources produced by the lecturer. All materials supplied by the lecturer will be made available through the QTC Moodle page for this unit; students will also participate in online discussions and activities through Moodle.

This is a half-unit, worth 6 credit points towards your degree or diploma. A 6cp unit is considered to require an average time commitment of around 5 hours per week across all of the teaching and assessment weeks. Please speak with the QTC Registrar as a matter of urgency if you are finding that you need to consistently spend more time than this on TH025.

Students are required to watch all videos, complete any set pre-reading and complete any assessment tasks by the relevant due date. Please do be in touch as soon as you can if you anticipate having any difficulties with your assessments or with meeting the due date, and if you require an extension for one of your assessments, please contact the QTC Registrar as early as possible.

Assessment Weeks: 25 October – 5 November

TH025-606 Assessments

Assessments are submitted online via Moodle by 11.55pm on the due date (with the exception of timed online quizzes and onsite exams). If you experience difficulty submitting due to internet issues close to 11.55pm, please email registrar@qtc.edu.au explaining the issue. Attach a copy of your assessment and a screen shot of the folder in which your document is saved to show that you have not made changes after the due time.

In order to pass the unit, you must submit all assessment pieces and attain a mark of at least 50% for the unit as a whole.

Unless an extension has been applied for and granted in accordance with the Policy found in the QTC Handbook, where a student submits an assessment past its due date, in accordance with the ACT Late Penalties Policy, the assessment marks will be reduced at the rate of 3% of the total possible marks for the assessment item per calendar day, up to 14 days late, after which point the mark awarded shall be zero.

Your submitted assessment items must also be within 10% of the required word limit, and failure to meet this requirement shall result in a penalty of 10% of the total possible mark being deducted. See the QTC Handbook for full details on what is included within your total word count. Please also note that footnotes in their entirety should not exceed 25% of the prescribed essay length. A 10% penalty of the final grade applies if footnotes are more than 25% of the prescribed essay length. QTC seeks to prepare you for ministry, and in ministry delivering presentations on time and within an acceptable length are essential skills.

Guide to Assessments

What are we looking for?

General remarks

All students are expected to avail themselves of the guidelines for written assignments provided in the ACT Handbook (consult the table of contents) and in the QTC Student Handbook section 'Style Requirements for Written Assignments'.

All written work for this course should conform to the guidelines of the SBL Handbook of Style (with the exception of Australian spelling conventions).

Any Hebrew and Greek cited must be typed in a Unicode font; SBL BibLit is commended as one font covering Hebrew, Greek, and Roman Unicode ranges, but is not required. It is freely available from the SBL website: http://sbl-site.org/educational/BiblicalFonts_SBLBibLit.aspx

For full information on what is included in the total word count, see the QTC Handbook section headed Length of Assignments.

Do note carefully the number of words required for each assessment item, depending on whether you are enrolled for TH025-606 or TH025-806. For full information on what is included in the total word count, see the QTC Handbook section headed Length of Assignments.

Annotated list of Biblical passages

The challenge of this part of the task involves two dimensions—the selection of the biblical texts and the comments you make upon them.

In the selection of the texts, we are looking for the widest possible grouping of texts that are significant in establishing the Bible's teaching on this topic. This means we are looking for texts to be included that have something genuinely important to say on the topic, something not already covered by other texts that are included. As a guide, you should include between 6 and 12 entries to ensure that enough words are given to annotations.

In the comments made upon the texts we are looking for the comments to clearly explain how the texts contribute to the Bible's teaching on that topic i.e., what each text actually adds to our picture of the Bible's teaching on the matter. We don't want any comments of a 'general' nature on the texts - about authorship, context, the main idea of the passage or the like - only what it contributes to our understanding of the topic you have chosen.

The challenge of this task is that the need for breadth in texts chosen is in tension with the need for depth in explanations. This means that we are looking for judicious selectivity - only the most significant texts, and only the most significant comments to be made on texts.

Important note: When you create your list, only give the Bible reference. Do not include the text of the verse(s).

Reviews

This task is looking for two main skills to be demonstrated: your skill in reading a document, and your ability to reflect critically on what you have read.

In showing your reading ability we need to be able to see a clear description of the content of what you have read. This involves selectivity - you need to pick out what you thought were the most important points said, for you cannot simply repeat everything. It also involves looking at how the writer has structured their material and/or how their argument builds and develops and helping your reader have insights into the way the content of the document is organized and how it functions in his argument.

Demonstrating some grasp of the writer's purpose is also important. In showing your critical reflection we need to be able to see an independent mind that judiciously weighs the strengths and weaknesses of the document. This does not require you to be positive or negative about the document - a critical reflection can be a deeply appreciative reflection. It does require you to be able to say why (i.e. give reasons for) you think the work you read is valuable - and where its value lies - and to indicate where you think it said something wrong, offered a weak argument, adopted an approach of arguing or structuring that had limitations with it, or was unclear, and to identify any aspects of the topic that were not included in the document and that you believe needed to be for it to accomplish its purpose.

For historical documents

Some of the documents included are 'historical', being written in an earlier period than the last one hundred years or so. Reviewing these involves demonstrating an additional skill - of reading them as an historical document rather than a modern one. As this is a doctrine unit, and not a church history unit, this is less important than it would be for church history - we are more interested in what the documents contribute to our understanding of the teaching of Scripture than our understanding of the Church's past. Nonetheless, reading them well and critically reflecting on them will involve appreciating how they would have functioned for their original audience, and not reading them as though they are written to a modern audience.

Talk Outline

This task is looking for your ability to harness your work in producing the bibliographies and reviews to formulate a piece of Christian teaching on the topic. There are three possible areas to try and address – seek to be comprehensive in explaining the topic, seek to ensure that the audience understands the essential core of the topic by discussing it at some depth, seek to show why the topic matters and/or what its implications are. Usually trying to do all three equally will result in doing none of them well, so again, selectivity is the key. Ideally the talk outline will reflect which biblical texts you have identified in your bibliography, and your critical reflections on the strengths and weakness of the approaches to the topic undertaken by the documents you reviewed.

Reflection on talk outline (TH025-806 students only)

Here we are looking for your ability to self-reflect and explain yourself. In particular, we are looking for you to explain the issues raised in the previous paragraph - how your selection of the biblical texts helped determine how you went about constructing your talk (e.g. which texts you decided to use and why) and how your reviews helped inform your approach (e.g. where did you say something like 'that worked well, and I can use that in my talk', and where did you say, 'that needed something more, so I'll make sure I don't have that weakness in my talk'?).

See over for a simplified EXAMPLE LAYOUT for portfolio.

JOURNAL ARTICLES

In most of the units you study at QTC, you will be asked to demonstrate your understanding of the subject matter by writing a research paper, essay, take-home exam or the like. Your lecturers and the Moderators of the Australian College of Theology will expect to see that you have consulted current academic research in the form of journal articles.

Q: So how do you find good journal articles?

A: Search the online Journal Databases

QTC makes available the following Journal Databases which will be useful for finding information for your assessments:

- ATLASerials Plus – available via EBSCO

ATLASerials Plus is the full text version of the ATLA Religion Database (ATLA). This database is a collection of major religion and theology journals selected by some of the major religion scholars in the United States. Coverage of this database dates back to 1949.

- Religion and Philosophy Collection

This database provides extensive full-text coverage of such topics as world religions, major denominations, biblical studies, religious history, epistemology, political philosophy, and philosophy of language, moral philosophy and the history of philosophy.

- JSTOR

JSTOR provides full-text access to journal articles as well as eBooks. It includes theological journal titles such as the Harvard Theological Review and other titles not found in ATLASerials Plus or the Religion and Philosophy Collection.

Most journal articles will be available as a PDF which you can read, print or save.
